CONTESTS BOOK

PORTO ANTICO DI GENOVA

A Green Soul: Euroflora's Hallmark since 1966.

Our plant and flower show, the only Italian event among those recognised by AIPH –International Association of Horticultural Producers– is an excellent showcase for the most qualified Italian and international flower growers, nurseries, and professional landscapers.

Euroflora means community, shared values, and a profound passion that brings together exhibitors and organisers.

It is a vital tool to promote this sector, gather leading professionals, and champion local identities.

Euroflora's competitions are its most challenging component: they are a sort of Olympics, a playing field for the very best.

Great care is devoted to selecting the Jury members, all of whom are professionals of great expertise and reputation.

Their point of reference will be the Scientific Committee, who has been joined by outstanding personalities.

In our painstaking work to update the Book of Competitions with the aim of ensuring it always reflects contemporary needs and trends, we have strengthened the role of the Design competition, which can effectively and innovatively respond to the need to turn ideas into tangible, sustainable solutions in the creation of new green spaces.

Following the last two editions at the Parchi of Nervi, Euroflora 2025 will be held in the new Eastern Waterfront, the multi-purpose area designed by Renzo Piano Building Workshop as part of the far-reaching redevelopment of Genoa's former Exhibition Centre, where many of you exhibited in past editions, up until 2011.

In its new venue, Euroflora will be able to express its urban regeneration potential to the fullest, hosting innovative design installations that represent the relationship between art and nature.

I wish all participants the best of success and express my deep gratitude for their precious contribution to the magic of Euroflora.

Competitions

Article 26

The Euroflora 2025 Regulations include a number of competitions, broken down in Competitions of Honour and special prizes, Aesthetic and Technical competitions. An additional competition targeted at designers, by the name of ARS URBANA, has also been announced. Separate Regulations shall apply.

Article 27

Participation in the competitions set forth in the Regulations is voluntary and free of charge for all exhibitors. The Organiser shall automatically enter all entitled parties in the competitions assigning the Prizes of Honour.
As regards group displays, registration for the competitions shall be possible both as group exhibitors and as individual exhibitors, specifying the exhibitors Group they belong to. Every exhibitor may enter more than one competition.
The same plants may enter both technical and aesthetic competitions. Please consult the Book of Competitions for a complete list of competitions and prizes.

Article 28

In order to enter the competitions, exhibitors shall fill out the specific entry forms prepared by the Organiser and hand them in on or before March 24, 2025. Entry in the competitions may not be guaranteed in relation to applications received after the above date.

Article 29

To simplify the Juries' activities, exhibitors wishing to withdraw from competitions shall communicate their decision on or before April 14, 2025. No modification of entry details shall be possible after such date.

Prizes

Article 30

The overall prize money available to Juries shall be broken down as follows:
a) Prizes of Honours in cash, including a Grand Prize of Honour and a Prize of Honour; b) Prizes in cash accompanying Gold medal and Silver medal certificates for aesthetic and technical competitions; a Bronze medal certificate shall also be awarded for the Ars Urbana competition; c) Prizes in cash for the special competition section to be held at the end of the show. The prize amounts are indicated in the Book of Competitions. Prizes under paragraph a) above shall be awarded by the Jury of Honour; prizes under paragraph b) shall be awarded by the Technical Juries of the various sections; prizes under paragraph c) shall be awarded by a specific Jury. Prizes won by Euroflora participants shall be available for payment until June 30, 2025. After such date the prizes will be collected by the Organiser.

Juries

Article 31
The members of the various Juries shall be selected among Italian and foreign industry experts. No competing exhibitor may sit on any of the Juries.

Article 32
Juries shall use the judgement and ranking methods established by the Organiser.
Should the quality of the plants exhibited or their presentation be deemed insufficient, the Juries may decide to reduce the prize money or not to award the relevant prizes.

Article 33
Special Juries shall be appointed to judge the competitions for the best-maintained displays at the end of the show; every such Jury shall comprise:
- a representative of the Organiser;
- a representative of the Euroflora 2025 design team;
- a representative of the exhibitors;
- a representative of Euroflora 2025's visitors.

The number of prizes and the prize money to be awarded for Maintenance competitions are listed in the Book of Competitions. Exhibitors who will have taken care directly of maintaining their display shall be entitled to participate in this competition.

Article 34
The Juries' work shall begin at 8.00am on April 23, 2025. The work of the Special Juries under Article 33 above shall begin at 3.00pm on May 3, 2025.

Article 35
The Juries' vote shall be secret and their verdict may not be appealed against.

Article 36
At the end of the work of the Juries and before the official opening of Euroflora 2025, the secretaries of the various Juries shall place in front of each winning plant or collection a label describing the prize won.
